NUMBER 48.

Mr. Hill's Great Speech.

Senator Hill, of New York, made the opening campaign speech on the 19th inst. in Brooklyn, where he sounded the keynote of reform and showed what party was the party to bring relief to the country. He made a lengthy speech in which he touched upon all of the issues of the campaign and denounced the republican party as a party of false promises of the worst class of legislation known since the formation of the government. He showed the tariff was and is still the issue in spite of people who try to dodge the question. On the tariff, Senator Hill said:

The democratic position is a safe, logical, conservative and just position. No tariffs, except "for the purposes of revenue only," and then limited to the necessities of the government honestly and economically administered, is a doctrine which appeals to the good sense and sound judgment of every honest and thoughtful man. With the constantly increasing expenses of government and the enormous amount of money, annually augmenting, required by the growing pension list, the tariff which must necessarily be exacted to meet these expenditures will be for many years to come amply sufficient to afford, incidentally, all the protection which the most ardent advocate of the system can reasonably ask. More than this, ought not to be conceded to anybody.

In the imposition of necessary tariffs there should be exercised a wise discrimination in the amounts exacted and in the articles taxed. What should be placed upon the free list and what should be the most heavily burdened are questions not free from difficulty and require the most careful consideration. The Mills bill of '88 passed by the democratic house of representatives indicate in a general way the democratic position.

It shows:

First—That the necessities of life should be free.

Second—That luxuries should bear the heaviest burdens.

Third—That there should be free raw materials for the benefit of our manufacturers.

Fourth—That the tariff on manufactured articles should, as a general rule, be larger where similar articles are manufactured in this country than where they are not.

Fifth—That the tariff upon all manufactured articles should equal the difference between the rate of wages paid in this and foreign countries so far as labor enters in the cost of their production.

President Harrison, in his ingenious letter of acceptance, endeavors to place our party in a false attitude by calling attention to the fact that while our platform in 1884, readopted in 1888, containing an express blank upon this question of the equalization of wages, yet it was omitted in 1892 and asserts that we have changed our position. I beg to differ with him. There has been no change. There was no necessity for the repetition of that plank, as the party's position upon it had been evidence by the Mills bill, which had not been passed before the conventions of 1884 and 1888 were held. Parties are to be judged as much by their record as by their platforms. We stand not only upon our platform of 1892, but upon the Mills bill, which was the latest general democratic legislation on the tariff. That bill was as good an exposition of our principles as any elaborate platform could be.

Now, what did the Mills disclose upon the question of the equalization of wages? I make the statement, and challenge a contradiction of its truth, that there was not a single manufactured article in that bill upon which the duty was reduced, in which there was not still left a duty sufficient to represent the difference in wages paid in this and foreign countries for labor involved in its production. I can safely go further and say that in many instances the duty permitted to remain exceeds this difference in wages three, four and five times. Therefore our position upon this question is as clear as the noon-day sun, and it required no special plank in the platform to emphasize it.

If I were asked to define as concisely as possible the whole democratic policy I would state it substantially as follows: We favor a tariff for revenue only, limited to the necessities of the government, economically administered and so adjusted in its application, as far as practical, as to prevent unequal burdens, encourage industries at home and afford just compensation to labor, but not to create or foster monopolies. These are the principles on which the details of all tariff legislation should be based.

Our opponent profess to be much disturbed because we have, in our platform, denounced "republican protection" as a fraud. What else is it? It is a fraud for these reasons:

First—It is secured by a palpable abuse of the taxing power of the government.

Second—It insures the benefit of a few at the expense of the many.

Third—It is based on favoriteism of the worst species.

Fourth—It tends to create fictitious prosperity to be followed by subsequent business depression.

Fifth—It is deceptive in its results.

Sixth—Its principle beneficiaries constitute a private class and their importunities for governmental aid lead to public scandal and demoralization.

President Harrison and all the other advocates of this vicious system diligently seek to create the impression that the democratic party has assumed a bolder attitude than formerly, and become an advocate of absolute free trade. They will not succeed in their strenuous efforts to place us in a false position. It does not follow that because we are opposed to an unreasonable tariff that we favor free trade and the abolition of all duties.

We favor a larger commerce and wider markets than at present exist. We are opposed to any governmental partnerships with private interests, such as the McKinley bill establishes.

The Testimonials

Published in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla are not extravagant, are not "written up," nor are they from its employees. They are facts and prove that Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses absolute merit and is worthy the full confidence of the people.

Hood's pills are purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, effective, but do not cause pain or gripe. Be sure to get Hood's.

John T. Shufren, an educated colored lawyer of Orlando, Fla., says, "I am not honest, intelligent and patriotic colored man who has the interest of his race at heart can afford to vote for the force bill."

Mr. John Carpenter, of Goodland, Ind., says: "I tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, for diarrhea and severe cramps and pains in the stomach and bowels with the best results. In the worst cases I never had to give more than the third dose to effect a cure. In most cases one dose will do. Besides its other good qualities it is pleasant to take." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by R. H. Starks.

The republican state convention of Texas decided not to put any state ticket in the field, but to vote for the bolting democratic candidate for governor.

Bad drainage causes much sickness, and bad blood and improper action of the liver and kidneys is bad drainage to the human system, which Burdock Blood Bitters remedy.

Major McKinley made three speeches in Vermont just before the election in that state, and each city in which he spoke showed a falling off in the republican vote.

Notes from the Capital.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 23.—Washington has never attempted to entertain so large a crowd as the one now here in attendance upon the national encampment of the G. A. R., but it is doing it well and in the main satisfactorily, although there are some complaints of over charging on the part of restaurant keepers. The city is very handsomely decorated and more profusely than ever before. Mr. Harrison was kept away by the illness of Mrs. Harrison and his place is to be taken on the programme by Mr. Morton, who, by the way, never smelt gunpowder in battle, having been busy during the entire war in his New York bank amassing his fortune. Of course this has caused some good natured chaffing among the old soldiers, but they are here for a good time and are apparently having it.

One year ago, when Washington was selected as the city to entertain this encampment, many prominent local democrats feared it would be used by the republicans for political purposes, and for that reason declined for a time to take any part in making preparations for it, but they were assured that there was to be no politics in it, and accepting that assurance they allowed themselves to be put on the citizens' committee and went to work with a will, and it is no exaggeration to say that the great success of the encampment is very largely due to the work of these democrats and to the money contributed by themselves and their democratic friends.

But the old soldiers had hardly begun to arrive in large numbers before these democrats learned that just as they had at first feared the encampment was to be used to help the republican party, no blame for this can be attached to the republican members of the citizens' committee; they have kept their promise and confined themselves to looking after the comfort of the city's guests in a manner that is highly creditable to them, but congressmen and officials high up in the administration, aided by the republican national committee have been and are now hard at work trying to prejudice democratic members of the G. A. R. against Mr. Cleveland. To accomplish this purpose thousands of copies of a pamphlet containing garbled extracts from Mr. Cleveland's pension veto messages, are being slyly circulated among them, and a large number of members of the G. A. R., some of them said to be in the pay of the national republican committee, are continually harping on the same subject. In addition, there are a number of republican senators and representatives, chief among them being Senator Proctor, of Vermont, who was dug out of obscurity and put at the head of the war department by Mr. Harrison, who are openly shouting about "Cleveland's dislike for the old soldiers," and doing their level best to create a prejudice against Mr. Cleveland. It is a little short of disgusting that the encampment, which should be only a pleasant reunion of the men who served in the army together, should be used and unfairly used, by politicians to further their own ends. It is a foul blot upon what would otherwise be a very enjoyable affair, and it is not likely to benefit those who are engaged in it.

Secretary Charles Foster is very much opposed to prohibiting immigration by Presidential proclamation, notwithstanding the opinion of the Attorney General that it can be done legally. The steamship companies have all promised not to bring steerage passengers from Europe as long as there is danger from cholera. That puts a stop to immigration. It also prevents a lot of Americans now in Europe who are unable to pay more than steerage passage returning home. It seems hard to shut out our own citizens because they are not able to pay cabin passage, and treasury officials are trying to study up some plan that will be just without being dangerous. Several of the steamship companies have offered to allow bonafide American citizens now in Europe and unable to pay more to come home as second class passengers on their return steerage tickets; but the officials are little afraid to give their consent to this plan as it would be almost certain to be abused. Something has got to be done, as demands have already been made by foreign authorities to know if these Americans are to be left over there as paupers.

There is a notable decrease among republicans of the talk about the south breaking up this year, and an increase of talk about the doubtfulness of the republicans holding their own in the northwest. This is significant, showing as it does that democratic prospects are recognized even by republicans to be steadily brightening. A republican said this morning: "Nothing but a serious blunder on the part Mr. Cleveland or the democratic managers can prevent the success of the democrats." It was not a bad diagnosis of the situation, and it is for Mr. Cleveland and the democratic managers to see that no blunder is made.

A Prize Hen Party.

If three hundred hens lay three hundred eggs in three hundred days, how many hens will it take to lay one hundred eggs in one hundred days? To the first person answering the above problem correctly the publishers of the Ladies' Pictorial Weekly will give an elegant upright piano valued at $325 or its equivalent in cash, as preferred. To the second person will be given an elegant safety bicycle, valued at $125, or its equivalent in cash. To the third person, a handsome gold watch, valued at $75, or its equivalent in cash. The next fifty persons sending correct answers will each receive a prize, valued at from twenty five dollars to five dollars. Prizes awarded in the U. S. will be sent free of duty. Contestants must enclose with their answer a U. S. postal note for thirty cents, (or fifteen U. S. two cent stamps) for one month's trial subscription to the Ladies' Pictorial Weekly, which is one of the handsomest ladies' weekly publications on this continent; the object in offering this prize contest is to introduce it to new families, and increase its permanent subscription list. We guarantee that prizes will be awarded strictly in order of merit. The date of postmark on letters is given precedence so that persons living at a distance have just as good an opportunity of securing a valuable prize. Address: Ladies' Pictorial Co., "E." Toronto, Canada.

Mr. Blaine advises the republicans to steer clear of the tariff question and push other issues to the front. But they will not be permitted to do it. They have fastened a robber tariff on the country that was bought and paid for by the plutocrats; they have indorsed the infamy in their national platform, and have got to stand up squarely and face it even if they see plainly that, as Mr. Blaine fears, the verdict of 1890 will be reaffirmed in 1892. No dodging will be allowed.

M. L. Blair, Alderman, 5th Ward, Scranton, Pa., stated Nov. 9, '83: He had used Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil for sprains, burns, cuts, bruises and rheumatism. Cured every time.

Pineapple juice is said to be a remedy for diphtheria. The peculiar acid contracts the muscles of the throat, allowing a free passage of air to the lungs.

In an age of fraud and adulteration, it is certainly gratifying to know that such an extensively used preparation as Ayer's Sarsaparilla may be relied upon. It never varies either in quality, appearance, or effect, but is always up to the standard.

The Weaver-Field Address.

The nominees of the people's party for President and Vice President have seen fit to signify their acceptance in the form of a joint address to the voters of the country. It is a melancholly document of course; and it is also a brazenly mendacious one. "The people are in poverty," it declares, "and their substance is being devoured by heartless monopolists, trusts, pools and money sharks." Furthermore, it tells us, "labor of all kinds is largely unemployed, and work is obtainable, the wages are unremunerative, and the products of labor do not pay the cost of production." This alleged general distress is attributed in equal measure to the republican and democratic parties, which are said to be "practically one in purpose differing just enough to enable them to carry on a sham battle, while the work of robbery and spoliation proceeds unabated." It is difficult to treat such seriously. If the people were really being wronged and oppressed as these apostles of disaster represent, a revolution would ensue before sundown. No people on earth, having the power to help themselves, would submit to a condition of that kind for a single day. They would take things into their own hands, and compel their despoilers to deal justly and fairly with them. It is not conceivable that American citizens, knowing their rights, and realizing their strength, would tamely sit down and let rapacious and abhorrent forces reduce them to beggary and servitude. This country is not inhabited by people so poorly able to take care of their own interests, and it is a slander to make such an intimation.

There is no foundation, as every intelligent person knows, for the statements that poverty prevails and that a conspiracy of political agencies is absorbing everything in sight. On the contrary, the situation is signally gratifying and encouraging. There are more people living in happy home and getting satisfactory returns for their labor in the U. S. today than in any country. Our record of prosperity is unprecedented in all the history of civilization. No man need be idle who is willing to work; no man need remain poor who chooses to make proper use of his opportunities. There is a constant demand for all sorts of products at good prices. The wages of industry are higher than have before been known, and the earnings of labor will buy more of the necessities of life than they have purchased at any former time. These are facts, daily verified in personal experience; and when such facts exist it is folly for demagogues like Weaver and Field to try to persuade the people that they are living penury and misery. No party can thrive upon falsehood when the truth is so plainly visible. Calamities of the imagination are the weakest kind of arguments for any purpose, and the candidates who employ them only provoke derision. Our system of progress is not perfect by any means; there is room in it for considerable reform, and it will be improved as fast as the circumstances can be adjusted to better uses. But it is superior as it is to any other in the world, and its results do not in any sense justify the Weaver-Field view of the matter.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEES.

FOR PRESIDENT
GROVER CLEVELAND, OF NEW YORK.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT
ADLAI E. STEVENSON, OF ILLINOIS.

FOR CONGRESS
WM. J. STONE,
OF Lyon county.

FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE
W. S. BISHOP.

FOR COMMONWEALTH'S ATTORNEY
WM. F. BRADSHAW.

FOR CIRCUIT COURT CLERK
R. L. SHERWELL.

FOR SHERIFF
C. H. STARKS.

WED. EVENING, SEPT. 28.

The case of the state of Tennessee against John Estes for the murder of Otis Karnes was continued again last week in the circuit court of Henry county on account of a sick witness. The case was continued by the defense.

The third party people are very much in trouble now because of the strength of the republican candidate for congress. They thought all the time during the long hot summer that the republicans would not put any candidate in the field, but to their great sorrow one is in it, and now since he is "in it" to stay, they are just for the first time beginning to learn that Mr. Keys will be the hindmost man in the race. The way the race now appears is that Stone will get as many votes as both Deboe and Keys and that Deboe will beat Keys 2,000 votes in the district. The near approach of the election shows how strong the democratic party is in this district. It shows that the republicans will not vote with the people's party; it shows that men are leaving the new party every day; it shows that this county will soon be as strongly democratic as she was 15 years ago; it shows that in spite of all the isms the democratic party is growing stronger each day.

Speaking Monday.

The candidates for commonwealth's attorney locked horns at the court house Monday. Mr. Bradshaw spoke for about one hour in which he reviewed the political record of Mr. Harris and presented his claims to the voters of the county in a very manly speech. Maj. Harris followed in a speech in which he paid especial attention to Mr. Bradshaw and criticised him about as severely as Mr. B. did him. These gentlemen are both good speakers and we may expect that they will make the fur fly between now and the November election. Mr. Bradshaw is the representative of the democratic party, while Mr. Harris is a prohibitionist and expects the votes of all the other parties combined.

Dr. J. D. Smith, the prohibition candidate for congress, was on hand and after the candidates for commonwealth's attorney were done speaking he came upon the stand and in his grumbling, complaining way spoke the balance of the evening; in fact, we can't say when he did get done speaking. He only had a small hearing, but like grim death he stuck to them until the sun was sinking behind the western hills, and it is said he would have been speaking yet if only one man had remained to hear him, but when the last man stole away from him he quit, but died game. The doctor is a stickler; he is.

Our Farmers at Work.

The alliance, as a social order, has done some good in this county. It has educated some of its members to not go in debt, and be more economical in expenditures; it has, to some extent, inspired its members with the idea that to be successful as farmers they must work more, and as a result they are staying at home and doing more work than they have for years. Success will crown all such efforts with renewed prosperity. The farmers in this county are today more prosperous than they have been since the war, all of which comes about by more work and more economy and two good crop years right together. We have never had a word to say against the original objects and aims of the alliance as a social order, and in all instances where those principles have been carried out it has been to the interest of the farmers, but in every case where politics have been allowed to creep into the alliance organization its objects and aims have been thwarted and the order lost good and valuable members. We have always tried to keep separate and apart the alliance and the people's party, but if a word is said against the principles of the new party so many members of the alliance imagine a slur is thrown at their order. The men who are directly interested in the success of the alliance should teach the members that a person can be a good alliance member and not be a member of the third party. Until the great hosts of the alliance can learn that there is a decided difference between that order and the third party it will not succeed as it should.

OLIVE.

As I have seen nothing from these parts for some time will attempt to write a few lines.

Politics is the only question of interest in these quarters at present. I think there are just two things for our consideration in the present political muddle. They are these: Cleveland, happiness and prosperity; Harrison, woe and ruin. Weaver and the other men will not be in the count, so it would be useless to talk of them. The race is between Cleveland and Harrison, with Harrison on the inside track. Can't democrats see this? It is a fact known to all people possessed of common sense that the republicans are responsible for all the laws of which we so justly complain; the republicans themselves will not deny it. Admitting this to be a fact, how can our third party friends charge the democratic party of wrongs done when they did not even have the strength to hold the republicans in awe? Do you mean to charge a party for not doing what they were physically unable to do? How ungrateful such a course! This third party is made up of the misguided democracy, not democrats and republicans as some would have it; for, mark the phrase not a republican will vote the third party ticket. Weaver will vote for republican electors; see if he don't! Now, to third party men who have forsaken the principles of their fathers and flopped over into the people's party, let me say once for all, you have committed an error, and the sooner you repent and return to your father's house the better for you and your country. Your desertion cannot elect Weaver, but can only aid to elect "Benny," the force bill agitator. Some of the evils that will follow the re-election of Mr. Harrison are, the passage of the force bill, the continuation of protective tariff, continuation of the circulation currency, the raising of prices on all manufactured articles and no money to pay for anything you need. Now, if you wish to see all this and more, vote for Harrison who, through his administration proved to be a spendthrift and a source of extravagance. The republicans are at the head of the third party movement. They had almost as soon be denied the right to salvation as the right to control this government, and they intend to employ all means, fair or foul, to continue in control. Democrats don't be deceived by any republican scheme.

Dr. Deboe's Speech.

Yesterday was the day for Dr. Deboe, the republican nominee for congress in this district, to speak at the court house. He was promptly on hand. Judge Park gave him one hour and thirty minutes to speak to the people of the county. Long before the hour for the speaking to begin the republicans came in from all parts of the county in numbers larger than we have seen for many years. The republicans are beginning to show themselves in this county. The leaders of that party claim that they will cast at the November election at least 700 votes. Dr. Deboe is a good looking gentleman; dresses well and makes a very good speech. He is no orator, but he delivers his speech in a plain way without any polish or oratorical embellishment. He held up the beauties of protection and denounced the false pretensions of the democrats and the people's party. He showed that no better money system had ever been introduced than that of the present system of national banks, and until could be shown a better system he would defend and uphold the present one. He showed up the beauties of reciprocity and showed how it would benefit the farmers. He took a strong stand from a constitutional standpoint in favor of the force bill and grew loud and eloquent in defending it, and said it only meant a fair election to the poor and helpless voter. He made a few references to Capt Stone, but did not dwell long on points of difference between them. He made a few allusions to the untenable and impractical claims of the people's party, and in his way showed how foolish it is for them to cry so loud and long for the free coinage of silver. The republicans only thought his speech true, but not eloquent. The spiritual strength of the republicans was slightly renewed and they all went away happy.

Common Pleas Court.

Common Pleas court began Monday with a good docket. The judge came in late Monday evening, but on account of the public speaking he only organized his court which began in earnest yesterday. There are several important cases on the docket, but at present we will not mention but will give them more fully next week. The petit jury for this term of court is composed of the following householders of Marshall county: R H Rudolph, B F Johnson, Hyram Tyree, W S Griffith, T N Feezor, W E Warren, J M Nimmo, Oscar Harrison, R W Starks, D P Lee, R F Storey, F F Johnson, H F Wolverton, J A Stephens, I O Maddox, J W Field, F W Wyatt, R F Jinkings, Pat English, D R H Truitt, J H Finch, W M Cole, J H Darnell, E O Dycus.

IF YOUR BACK ACHES
Do you are all worn out, really good for nothing it is general debility. Try BROWN'S LION BITTERS. It will cure you, and give a good appetite. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

During the epidemic of flux in this county, 1888, I had hard work to keep a supply of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand. People often came ten or twelve miles in the night to get a bottle of the remedy. I have been selling patent medicines for the past ten years and find that it has given better satisfaction in cases of diarrhoea and flux than any other medicine I have ever handled.—J. H. Benham, druggist, Golconda, Pope county, Illinois. Over five hundred bottles of this remedy were sold in that county during the epidemic referred to. It was a perfect success and was the only remedy that did cure the worst cases. Dozens of persons there will certify that it saved their lives. In four other epidemics of bowel complaint this remedy has been equally successful. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by R. H. Starks.

The farmers complain that corn will not be as good this year as it was last; that although it has the appearance of being better, yet it will be light in many ways wherein it was heavy last year. Near a Suicide.
Last Saturday evening Mr. James J Swindell came near stepping away to his long home. He started over the river to John Chandler's, but while on his way near where Mr. Ross lives on the old Kinsolving place, he either accidentally or on purpose took an over dose of chloral, after which he fell asleep in the yard at Mr. Ross' and when night came he could not awake Mr. Swindell. So he became very much alarmed and came for Dr. Stillely who went over and administered an antidote for the poison, which soon aroused Mr. Swindell so he is now up, but is quite feeble from the effects of the poison. He should be careful how he tinkers with chloral.

A Transplanted Flower.
On the 17th of September 1892, the rude hand of death came and tore away from our midst the bright little one year old son of Brother and Sister Wilkes, at Brensburg. Little Odell had won his way to the tenderest place in each heart of that happy family. He was the light and joy of their home and many friends. He died of that dread disease, pneumonia, after 45 days of great suffering. To his grieving parents I would say

Weep no more; the lovely child
Which God to you had given,
Too pure for earth, has winged its flight
To swell the songs of Heaven.

Now he is with his Savior on high,
No more by sorrow or pain rivet;
A golden gem, a
